

BENT TREE SADDLE CLUB NEWSLETTER

NOV - DEC 2022

PRESIDENT'S CORNER

2022 is just about over and 2023 is just around the corner. This presents a clean slate for all of us to write on. I always look forward to a new year as it represents a new beginning for me. Also, I hope a new beginning for the BTSC.

The final event of the year was the Christmas celebration held at Pendley Stables. Please take the time to read about it in this newsletter. As president I awarded the Spirit Award to Christine Cobb and Ronda Erway, the Volunteer's Award to Jim and Lisa Sylvia, and the Founder's Award to Kathy Hardin.

The Executive Committee (EC) will meet in January to set the calendar for the year. As was mentioned at our Holiday party, we are looking for suggestions from the membership for this year's events. If you did not get the opportunity at the party or were not there, please send to me any suggestions you may have to make 2023 a successful year for BTSC.

The EC is looking at an obstacle course, treasure hunt, rides to Fausset Farms, Garland, and brunch at Prince farm. We are also looking at making a trip to a facility where we can ride and socialize. This would be an overnight or even a trip of a few days. We want this to be attractive to both our riding members and our social members.

The Sylvias have agreed to host the Trail Challenge again and has been scheduled for June 3. Also, I would like to get the Derby Party and 4th of July picnic in the planning stages early in the year.

If you are driving over the holidays, be safe.

Happy Holidays to one and all.

- Judie Uchitel

A MEMOIR OF THE SHARPTOP RIDE

Saturday, November 12th

The weather was iffy with the likelihood of some light rain. If we were to reschedule to the following day we would have had sunshine, but temps in the 30s and 40s. The ride executive committee decided to risk the rain. Eleven BTSC'ers and one guest left the Horse Park at 11am. Riding in the normal Obama position of leadership, I surveyed this small brigade that was in front of me and wondered how many would have second thoughts about this adventure as the expedition unfolded.

We marched all the way to Champion Creek without an incident. The troops were enjoying themselves - almost downright festive. Everyone watered their horses, checked their cinches, and the real adventure began. As we started up the climb to the Bruce Prince Sign, we left behind two stragglers who were busy watering their horses. Only a few minutes after departure a loud scream signaling imminent death came from the general direction of the two stragglers. After a few minutes of suspense the two appeared with one afoot. Both seemed to be okay. It was the not to be forgotten near death experience where no one got hurt. The ride resumed with ponchos coming out due to a steady, light rain. Lunch was had at the Sign when I noticed some low quiet murmurs about heading back. I quickly took control of the situation and got everybody back in line.

We then broke camp and began our march to Sharptop. After passing the dilapidated barn we reached a junction in the trail where four riders went awol and headed back to the Horse Park. Leading from the back of the troops, I was helpless in thwarting their escape. We were now down to eight in the command, but in spite of the weather morale remained somewhat high. Marching up a very narrow, steep, rocky trail we encountered a large fallen tree at a location that was impossible to ride around. Not to be denied, a member of the group pulled out a hand saw and told me to get to work. After an exhausting effort enough was cleared that with some encouragement our horses could step or jump over a portion of the tree trunk. Upon watching the first two horses struggle a bit with the obstacle and knowing that we were coming back down this trail two more soldiers decided to desert and turned back. We were now down to six true stalwarts determined to accomplish our assigned mission. To paraphrase Alfred Lord Tennyson when he immortalized the Light Brigade; Half a league, half a league, half a league onward, toward Sharptop we rode. Ours was not to question why. Ours was but to do or die.

We started the ascent to the top and without any problems reached a spot where we established a base camp and prepared for the final assault on foot. JoAnn Hartin and I graciously volunteered to remain as sentries with the horses. The remaining four never say die members took on the final very steep ascent. After a few minutes a totally wiped out Debbie Meffert returned saying she'd had enough. Kathy Hardin, Debbie Liggett, and Lig Quigley made it to the top. They took a picture of themselves with a BTSC jacket draped across a makeshift sign. This picture will become to the Bent Tree Saddle Club what the iconic Iwo Jima flag raising is to the country.

Alas, I have run out of wine. The final six riders arrived back at the Horse Park at 4:15pm. Just another five hour ride like the good, old days. What a ride! - Rich

CHRISTMAS PARTY

On December 3rd, about thirty people attended the party and enjoyed meal of turkey and ham along with all the sides delivered by The Tavern in Bent Tree. It was a BTSC-provided meal.

It was wonderful having the party at Martha Prince's barn. And we thank her for her hospitality.

There was alot of food left after the party, so I gathered it up and gave it to the fire department on Cove Road. They appreciated it very much!

Rich Vigue put together his annual slide show displaying activities enjoyed during the year. Thanks to Chris for getting the equipment up and running and presenting the show.

A general meeting was conducted and officers were elected for next year: Judie Uchitel (President), Ronda Erway (VP), Beyonca Warkentien (Secretary), Joyce DeLay (Treasurer) and Bob Crowl (BT Liaison).

We topped off the party with Annual Awards announced by Judie. Merry Christmas to all!

ELLEN STARA MEMORIAL RIDE - RECAP

Sunday, November 20th

The Ellen Stara Memorial Ride was a collaborative effort between the Bent Tree Saddle Club and the Chattahoochee Trail horse Association. Weeks before this event Accuweather forecasted that this day would be partly sunny with starting temps in the 20s and a high of 46° or so. As the days went on, the pros at Accuweather never changed that forecast. They were right. I went out at the crack of dawn to feed my horses. At the crack of dawn plus one second I was back in the mud room putting on some more clothing. It was cold in Talking Rock! I thought for sure we'd have some significant dropouts for the Memorial Ride, but I was wrong. We had 50 reservations (17 BTSC'ers) and only one person did not show. In lieu of riding, several people opted to drive to Staraland. Once everyone arrived we had 27 horses tied to the corrals (14 were BTSC) and approximately 55 people enjoying each other's company. We received lots of compliments for the box lunch provided by Biguns Barbeque. Biguns was very accommodating in providing these lunches and Janet and I recommend it for future events that need this kind of meal. Following lunch we had a short program at the Stara monument with 4 people providing remembrances of Ellen. A memento of the ride was provided to all participants. Many thanks to Christine Cobb who took the CTHA logo and customized it so that one side of the memento was specific to the event. Several people suggested this become an annual event. Maybe so, but I would definitely recommend a different time of year.
